

CHI OMEGA SANDBLAST

Chi Omega kicked off their annual philanthropy Chi Omega Sandblast on Saturday, March 16. The event is a sand volleyball tournament with prizes, food and music. All of the proceeds go towards their philanthropy benefiting the Make-A-Wish foundation of north central Florida.

The volleyball tournament was held on the Southwest Rec and consists of four player teams. Any UF organization was allowed to participate and create as many teams as they wanted. There was a women's and a men's bracket, with elimination-style play until 25 with rolling points.

There was also a raffle for people to enter to donate more money to Make-A-Wish, which grants the wishes of children with life-threatening medical conditions. Prizes included a Kay Bros BBQ gift card, Sarkara Sweets gift card, an hour-long photo session from John Parady Photography, and Gainesville Health and Fitness monthly memberships.

But the best part for some was the fact that the entire event went to a good cause. "At the end of the day, raising money for Make-A-Wish was our main concern, and the fact that so many people came out and just had a good time with us made it that much better. We all just had a good time and at the same time helped a really important foundation. I was really proud to be a part of it," said freshman Kristina Castaner of Chi Omega.
